AXIS TARGETS

Air Fields Near Athens Hammered By U. S. Bombers

American Heavies Dramatically Revive Threat of Allied Invasion in the Eastern Mediterranean Creating Great Damage

R. A. F. SLASHES EUROPE THROUGH NINTH NIGHT

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press War Editor

Lashing at Axis targets in Greece for the second time in a week, American heavy bombers hammered two airdromes near Athens on Sunday, it was disclosed today, and Naples was battered again Saturday in the powerful Allied air offensive overspreading the Mediterranean.

The American heavies of the Middle East command rained bombs upon the Eleusis and Hassani airdromes, dramatically reviving the threat of Allied invasion in the eastern Mediterranean, and creating heavy damage with a thick carpet of bombs.

RAF Wellingtons from the northwest African command delivered the punch at Naples, hitting docks and industrial areas in that rail hub of southern Italy, in an attack following three straight blows in 36 hours upon Messina, ferry terminal and supply city of Sicily.

The heavy Mediterranean actions brought frank warnings from Italian newspapers that invasion was imminent.

Meanwhile over Europe, RAF Mosquito bombs, sustaining the greatest air attack of the war through its ninth night, slashed at railways and airports in France last night to sever more arteries of Germany's invasion-defense behind her "Atlantic wall."

Pouncing on a convoy of Axis coastal ships off the Dutch coast, British planes early today sank two, stopped three more dead and drove another burning onto a beach.

The new raids upon Greek airdromes followed an attack Thursday on Sides airdrome at Salonika. To the invasion-conscious Axis strategists, attempting to build up their strength in the Balkans, was left the decision whether the bombings were the customary prelude to attack, or a feint to hide operations elsewhere.

The Paris radio and Reuters reported passage of German landing craft through the Bosphorus on the Black Sea en route to the Aegean. A Cairo announcement on Greece said three hangars were hit and fired at Eleusis and flames burst over "the whole surface of the airdrome," and that hangars and grounded planes were struck at Hassani.

The size of the new raid on Naples was not disclosed, and the Italians admitted only slight damage. Eight Axis planes attacking Allied shipping were downed Saturday, Allied headquarters said. The Algiers radio, quoting a Spanish newspaper, reported that the Italian fleet had sailed on an offensive operation, but this was not confirmed.

From Stockholm came another unconfirmed report that U. S. battleships had joined the British battle fleet in the Mediterranean.

Two railway yards were struck, more of the precious Axis locomotives were hit with machinegun fire, and R-boats were bombed off Cherbourg by the RAF last night. The switch to transport targets followed repeated devastating smashes at Germany's industrial Ruhr. Unspecified targets in western and northwestern Germany were raided by the RAF Saturday night.

CHURCHMAN DIES

Pittsburgh, June 28.—(P)—Fred C. Haller, prominent Pittsburgh churchman and president of the Haller Baking Company, died yesterday after a long illness.

BULLETINS

Washington, June 28.—(P)—American bombers, blasting Kiska in seven raids started large fires in the Japanese camp area and damaged anti-aircraft emplacements at that Aleutian Island enemy outpost, the navy reported today.

Washington, June 28.—(P)—The Department of Justice announced today that three American chemical companies had been charged in a federal grand jury indictment with creation of a worldwide cartel in conspiracy with German, British, Italian, Japanese and other foreign interests.

A U. S. AAF Base in Britain, June 28.—(P)—Major Gen. Henry F. Miller, head of the U. S. Army's Eighth Air Force Service Command, declared today that "we are definitely set for a great new flow of planes to this theatre for the increased offensive against Germany."

London, June 28.—(P)—The British announced officially tonight that "not less than" 400 Axis warships, supply ships and small craft have been sunk or damaged by mines laid in European waters since the war began.

DEPENDENTS MAY RECEIVE INCOME HIKE

War Department Expected Soon to Submit to Congress a Compromise Proposal

HOLDING HEARINGS

Washington, June 28.—(P)—The war department is expected soon to submit to congress a compromise proposal for increasing the allowances of dependents of men in the armed forces and proponents predicted it would receive speedy approval.

A senate military affairs subcommittee called Brig. Gen. M. G. White before it in a closed session today as it began hearings on a bill by Senator Lodge (R-Mass.) to increase the present dependency allowance by 15 per cent to meet rising living costs.

At the same time Chairman Johnson (D-Colo.) made public a War Department report urging the committee to delay action on the measure until it could present an analysis of the need for increases.

In this report, Secretary Stimson said the War Department "is satisfied that facts of common knowledge with respect to present day living costs indicate that there is justification for giving favorable consideration to some of dependents."

"This is particularly the case as regards those dependents who will come into the picture if selective service begins inducting substantial numbers of married men with children," Stimson wrote. He noted that the present act "was not drawn in contemplation of any imminent necessity for inducting large numbers of men thus situated."

Stimson pointed out the Lodge bill would make a blanket increase of 15 per cent in the government's contribution for all categories of dependents. A married man in the lower ranks of the army or navy now contributes $22 and the government $28 to provide $50 monthly for his wife. The government pays $12 additional for one child and $10 more for each additional child.

"It may be reasonably doubted," Stimson said, "Whether that approach to the problem is warranted by the known facts or will readily afford justice to the persons affected or to the public interest."

Ex-German As Raid Warden Is Enemy Spy

New York, June 28.—(P)—Ernest Frederick Lehmitz, 57, pleaded guilty today before U. S. Commissioner Martin C. Epstein in Brooklyn to FBI charges that he gathered information on troop movements, convoys and armament production for the Nazi intelligence system while serving as an air raid warden in Tompkinsville, Staten Island.

A withered-faced man in old clothes, Lehmitz told Epstein in an even voice that he pleaded guilty to the FBI charges and was ordered held in $50,000 bail for grand jury action. He will be prosecuted under the wartime espionage act which provides a sentence of death or 30 years in prison for conviction.

E. E. Conroy, special FBI agent who said Lehmitz was arrested yesterday, termed his arrest a "lesson for the American people." Typical of his activities, Conroy said, was one secret message reporting that transports were leaving with thousands of our troops, some destined for Australia and others for England and Africa. The report included the number of ships in certain convoys, their destination and a description of their cargoes, Conroy said.

The same message reported that an aircraft factory working at full capacity was working at full capacity.

Fast Nearing "Final Victory" Lt. Gen. McNamery Declares

Washington, June 28.—(P)—Congress was assured today the United Nations were rapidly approaching a "final victory" and that the war would be brought home to Japan in such a manner that "the whole empire will feel its full impact in a most violent and destructive way."

This statement from Lieut. General Joseph T. McNamery, deputy chief of staff, was included in testimony made public by the senate appropriations committee as the senate made ready to pass the army's "decisive budget" war bill.

Lost Over Kiel

Brig. Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, 38, grandson of the Civil War general of the same name, is missing after his bombing plane was lost over Kiel, Germany. Eight open parachutes seen after the plane went down leave a possibility he is a prisoner. He is the highest ranking U. S. officer lost in this theater.

Fire Sets Off Explosives In Freight Train

Grand Junction, Colo., June 28.—(P)—Residents dug jagged shrapnel from their yards and the walls of buildings today as souvenirs of a terrifying four-hour bombardment from munitions shooting out from a blazing freight train fire.

At least four persons were injured, one seriously, yesterday by particles of high-powered shells, some of which hurtled a mile from the siding where the blazing cars were isolated by trainmen.

Flying metal struck Bob Walhe stood on a freight caboose half a mile from the fire. He suffered a possible jaw fracture.

Blasts awoke the community about 1:30 A. M. Hundreds of townsmen, some in pajamas, hurried down Main Street as close as they dared to the tracks. Shells burst in increasing tempo, dying down about 5 A. M.

Railroad men discovered the fire in one of the cars soon after the freight train pulled into Grand Junction. They cut off the two cars and shunted them onto a track about a half mile west of the depot.

Although nearby buildings escaped fire damage, roofs and walls were riddled.

Demolition crews were disposing of shells which landed without exploding. The area was under military guard.

Two Sinkings Are Reported

By the Associated Press
The sinking of two Allied ships in the western Atlantic—the first announcement of merchant ship losses in that area in three weeks—was reported last week by the navy.

One of the vessels, a United Nations merchantman, was sent to the bottom of the Caribbean while the second, an American ship, was lost off the east coast of the United States.

Possible loss of 57 lives was reported. The sinkings brought to 670 The Associated Press count of Allied and neutral merchant ships announced as sunk by Axis submarines in those waters since the United States entered the war.

NO MYSTERY ABOUT A WHISKEY SHORTAGE

Harrisburg, June 28.—(P)—A New York distillery official's comment that "you cannot distribute a 75 per cent supply to meet a 250 per cent demand" for whiskey was issued yesterday without comment by the State Liquor Control Board.

"There is no mystery about a shortage of whiskey in Pennsylvania or any other state," the statement by Thomas W. Baile, vice president of National Distillers Products Corporation, continued. "The fact is that no whiskey has been produced in this country since October of last year."

"Our company has undertaken to distribute its available supplies fairly and equitably on the basis of consumption in prior years."

Better Have Sticker In the Right Place!

Harrisburg, June 28.—(P)—Local rationing boards were advised today by the Harrisburg district OPA to prepare for a rush of applications for new gasoline ration stickers late in July because at least 30 percent of automobiles have their ration stickers at the wrong place.

The OPA said in a statement that state law requires stickers must be on the extreme lower right hand corner of the rear window or the lower rear corner of the right rear window if automobiles are to receive official inspection stickers before the end of the current state inspection period July 31.

Italians Are Being Steeled For Invasion

Citizens Warned All Will Be Expected to Play Part in Defense

"EVERYONE WILL FIGHT"

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS

Bern, June 28.—(P)—The Italian press, apparently certain that the increased tempo of Allied raids on Sicilian, Sardinian and Italian mainland cities is a signal that invasion is imminent, is stepping up its attempts to steel the civilian populations for the blow.

Editors warned over the weekend that every Italian would be expected to play a part in defense of the homeland, and one paper asserted that cities would be turned into "fortresses" which would be defended street by street.

"The soldiers will have cannon and the people guns and knives," declared this article. "Everyone will fight—the rich and the poor, the industrialists, the workers, the women and the children."

Certainly that invasion is near was voiced by Il Popolo Di Roma, which acknowledges that heavy material damage had been inflicted by the Allied air forces and added that these aerial attacks could mean only one thing, "preparation for invasion." It also reported new concentrations of invasion barges along the North African coast and said that British transports were pouring war materials into North Africa from Gibraltar.

Many of the papers took pains to spike rumors published abroad that Premier Mussolini had relinquished part of his power to Carlo Scorza, secretary of the Fascist party who is now in charge of the administration of civil mobilization.

The Rome press differed with German correspondents who expressed belief that the Allies contemplated nothing more than continued air bombardment of Italian objectives.

CELEBRATIONS URGED BY GOVERNOR MARTIN

Harrisburg, June 28.—(P)—Governor Martin in a statement today urged Pennsylvania communities to observe Independence Day by "expressing their allegiance to the principles of our nation through local celebrations, assemblies and parades."

The governor said it is fitting that Independence Day in Pennsylvania "should be something more than a holiday," adding "it should rather be the occasion upon which the people of every community may unite in the fellowship of democracy and renew their pledge to its purpose and ideals."

FOUR TOTS KILLED IN PURSUIT PLANE CRASH

Huntington Beach, Calif., June 28.—(P)—Four children died today from injuries they received when a P-38 army pursuit plane crashed and exploded on the beach in view of 20,000 bathers yesterday.

Sixteen other persons sustained injuries and burns as the plane rocketed down in a circular dive from an altitude of 8,000 feet and scattered wreckage and flaming gasoline over a wide area. The pilot parachuted to safety.

LEAPS TO DEATH

Pittsburgh, June 28.—(P)—A woman identified as Mrs. Gertrude B. Wittmer, about 59, plunged 125 feet to death from the Lincoln avenue bridge last night, the coroner's office reported. A resident of the neighborhood said he saw the woman standing at the bridge railing for about an hour before she leaped.

At Least 24 Deaths In State Attributable To Torrid Wave With Little Relief In Sight

By the Associated Press

Pennsylvania, counting at least 24 deaths attributable to the heat in the last two days, headed into a second week of blistering weather today, with an official forecast of "continued very warm."

Scattered thunder showers, predicted throughout the state, were not expected to give more relief than the rains which occurred in some sections Sunday, granting a temporary respite.

Nineteen of the deaths occurred in Philadelphia Saturday and Sunday; two in Pittsburgh yesterday; one each at Hazleton and Washington yesterday, and one in Reading Saturday.

Reading and Oil City both reported readings of 97 yesterday. For Reading it was the third straight day of 95-plus temperatures, setting a record for any three-day period since weather records have been kept there. It was the eighth day of 90 or above readings at Oil City. It was 95 in Washington county, where a 20-year record of 100 degrees was equaled on Thursday.

Philadelphia had a top reading of 94 yesterday, three degrees lower than Saturday's high, but a storm that broke in mid-afternoon sent the mercury spiraling down to a low of 74 at 11 p. m. By midnight it was back up to 76 and still rising.

Pittsburgh's Sunday high was 92. It was the seventh day in the 90's there, the top reading of 95 having been recorded Thursday. A heavy rain and electrical storm late in the afternoon failed to cool off the city.

Harrisburg's record for the day was equaled with a top temperature of 94. A mid-afternoon shower sent the quicksilver down to 70, but by 8:30 p. m. it had risen again to 81. Scranton was comparatively cool, with 92 tops for Sunday.

Philadelphia's jammed Delaware river wharfs on their way to and from the seashore, as the Pennsylvania-Reading Seashore Lines Jersey resorts. There was "standing room only" on both trains and buses headed to and from the beaches.

Other crowds fought to get on Delaware river excursion boats, and a detail of police was sent to the Wilson Line pier to keep order.

RUBBER INDUSTRY IS MAKING BIG STRIDES

Washington, June 28.—(P)—America's $700,000,000 rubber industry by the end of this year will be capable of meeting all essential civilian as well as military requirements, Commerce Secretary Jones said today.

Manufacturing capacity of the 40 plants throughout the country by December will be in excess of 500,000 tons a year "which is more than we have ever used and sufficient for our essential purposes," Jones declared in an address prepared for a "Made in America Rubber" luncheon at Houston, Tex.

Telephoned from Washington, his address was broadcast over a Texas state network.

LINEMAN ELECTROCUTED

Butler, June 28.—(P)—Burns saved when he fell onto high voltage wires while attempting to fasten his safety belt around a pole proved fatal Saturday to Albert J. Theis, 26, of Slippery Rock, a West Penn Power Company lineman.

G.O.P. To Plan For Election

Harrisburg, June 28.—(P)—The Republican state committee's executive group comes to town tomorrow to perfect election campaign plans and dine with Governor Martin.

Organization support apparently is assured Judge Claude T. Reno for retention of his superior court place, the only statewide office at stake in this year's election.

Democrats last weekend set their campaign in motion with state committee endorsement of Common Pleas Judge Curtis Bok of Philadelphia for the post. Reno and Bok probably will be nominated in the September primaries without opposition.

The campaign's big question of how to attract interest of war-minded citizens is expected to receive consideration of the Republican governing body. The party is centering its efforts on retention of the Philadelphia mayor's office and overthrowing Democratic rule in Allegheny county.

With campaign banquets and dinners ruled out by rationing, party leaders will have to find new methods of attracting attention for their candidates.

COAL MINERS SLOW GOING BACK TO PITS

Reports Indicate Movement to Restore Full Shifts in Some Fields Is Being Opposed

UNIONS HOLD MEETINGS

BULLETIN

Washington, June 28.—(P)—Secretary Ickes told the house ways and means committee today the government has "no desire and no plans for the nationalization" of the coal industry and hopes to return the mines to private ownership "at the earliest possible moment." He was unable to say, he added, when return would be possible but said the government, which took over the mines during the recent strike, would "seize the first opportunity to return them to private ownership."

Pittsburgh, June 28.—(P)—Scattered gains in the number of men working in the coal fields were shown today in early reports which indicated the movement to restore full shifts in the partially-operating fields might be a slow process.

In Ohio, United Mine Workers leaders reported all except 2,550 of its 15,000 miners back in the pits with the expectation all would be back tomorrow. Only 3,200 worked in Ohio last weekend.

On Sunday many union meetings were held in the Appalachian field at which scores of locals voted to go back to work, and scattered reports from the Pennsylvania soft coal field gave an increase in the number of men working but the captive steel mines still were short-handed.

The United States Steel Corporation reported operations "better" at its mines but none of the four Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation mines worked. A J. & L. spokesman said pickets prevented workers from entering one mine.

President James Mark of the big Central Pennsylvania district said incomplete reports showed 15,000 out of 45,000 miners were working, an improvement over last week by several thousand.

Kentucky reported 51,600 of its 60,000 miners working—a gain of more than 7,000 over last week. Union officials explained that "local situations" prevented the return at some mines. In western Kentucky 4,500 men were out "on vacation" protesting they received only $20 vacation pay instead of $50 agreed upon.

Indiana reported 6,500 in the mines out of 8,000 a decrease of 500 from last week. Hopes for a back to work surge (Turn to Page Seven)

Many Mines In Anthracite District Idle

Wilkes-Barre, June 28.—(P)—Hopes of union leaders for a back-to-work surge in Pennsylvania's anthracite field collapsed today when less than 25,000 of the industry's 80,000 odd workers returned to their jobs.

Although at least 18 United Mine Workers locals voted at stormy weekend meetings to resume production, only a few thousand miners carried out the decision, and some mines that operated last week failed to reopen. Thus, there was little improvement, if any, in the picture as a whole despite the fact that today marked the beginning of a new work week. Union leaders remained hopeful, however, that the condition would improve as the week progressed.

Early Diagnosis X-Ray Unit Ends Local Campaign Tuesday

The Warren County Tuberculosis Society's "early diagnosis by X-ray" campaign continues today and tomorrow and it is expected that totals for this return visit of the Power X-ray technicians will reach nearly the 2,500 mark.

Beginning Thursday morning at the Pennsylvania Furnace and Iron Company's plant, 186 persons were given chest X-rays, followed by 110 at the city building here during the same afternoon.

Workers remained at the National Forge plant at Irvine until 1:30 a. m. Saturday to catch the night shift and provide a total of Friday's work of 796. All day Saturday, 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., was spent at the city building, when the 576 persons X-rayed included many from rural communities of Youngville, Sheffield, Sugar Grove, Lander and Tidoute. Ages ranged from four years up and two applicants had to be refused because they were babes in arms and too young to fit into the program. Whole families have been X-rayed and nothing but praise has been heard for the county agency's enterprising work in this health project.

This morning, the equipment visited the Struthers-Wells plant for approximately 300 pictures and tomorrow's hours at the United Refining Company will be 9 a. m. (Turn to Page Seven)

When he called Second Lieutenant Monroe and three other nurses were in Scotland on a four days leave.

BASS SHOULD BE SAFE

From all indications with the gasoline rationing ban being enforced in no uncertain way the bass season will find few anglers far out walking distance on the streams of the county. The ban on fishing driving will hold many at home and the invasion of anglers from the Pittsburgh district will have to be done via bus to haunts has annually had a big patronage from Pittsburghers during the bass season but this year the number will be cut down. From all indications the water will be low and the big fellows will lie in the pools and eddies so that fishing should be tops.

Seven others fired scores giving them "marksmen" ratings: Leon Christensen, 158; Don Abraham, 153; Don Weiss, 153; Don Curtis, 152; Peter Mangini, 151; Richard Forbes, 140; John Coulter, 137.

Members of the Warren Rifle Club and Complanter Gun Club acted as coaches and range personnel.

Others eligible to participate are asked to watch this paper for announcement of further qualifying shoots.

Those who have registered for the new classes of the Warren small arms firing school are asked to be at the state armory at 6:45 p. m. Tuesday; the instruction to start promptly at seven o'clock. This class has been entirely filled but registrations will be accepted for future classes.

Home Burned When Struck By Lightning

The one and one-half story home of Ernest Wood on the Tidoute road was completely destroyed by fire about eight o'clock last evening after it had been struck by a bolt of lightning.

Located next to the school building, the frame structure burned so rapidly that efforts of neighbors were to no avail and the building and its entire contents, including several War Bonds and $25 in War Stamps, were lost.

Mr. Wood, visiting at the home of a neighbor at the time of the happening, escaped with only the clothing he was wearing. He will stay for the present with neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Quest. His only close relative is a nephew whom he raised, Cpl. Henry Vohn, now in California.

BOYS' CLUB LOSES TWO OVER WEEKEND

St. Joseph's Boys' Club lost two games over the weekend, one to the West Side Terrors Friday by a 14-11 score and the other to the Nine Wildcats from Struthers-Wellis, 18-13. Bob Weidert won both games from his brother "Whitney." He relieved Kifer in the first game and gave up three hits in five innings. In the second he relieved Samuelson and gave but seven hits in 8 2/3 innings. Both games were closely played, with all three teams making numerous errors.

YOUNGVILLE NEWS

Youngville, June 28.—The July 13th meeting of the Brokenstraw Grange will be in the form of a birthday party. Members are asked to bring for that evening a turkey and sandwiches. Last week's Grange meeting was very interesting as Mrs. Kenneth White brought a report of the recent convention which she attended at State College for Lecturers.

STAR OFFICERS ENTERTAIN

A delightful party was held Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Grace Shippe, worthy matron of the local Order of Eastern Star, when the officers of the Star honored Mrs. Herbert Maasz at a shower party. Mrs. Maasz received lovely gifts.

THE THIRD ANNUAL RECITAL of the KATHERINE DAWN WILLIAMS

Ballet and Acrobatic Classes will be held in the WARREN HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM WED., JUNE 30th, 8:00 P. M.
Admission: Adults 50c, Children 35c, Reserved Seats 75c—Tax Included

The Williams School of Dancing wishes to take this opportunity to thank its well-wishers and the ballet-loving public for their splendid support and their active interest in the work of the school, its aims, its ideals and its development.

With the spread of the war it is natural that the conditions under which the art of the ballet must exist have become increasingly difficult. Yet, nevertheless, the school has succeeded in continuing uninterruptedly in its task of giving to the local public wholesome and artistic entertainment, and perpetuating the art of the ballet, which has come to mean so much to the American public.

The Williams School of Dancing feels that, in continuing the activities of the school, it is contributing to the moral defense of this country by presenting this season the finest product of the accumulated culture of the world, as evidenced in that combination of music, dance and painting that composes the art of the ballet.

This season is especially significant in the life of the Williams School of Dancing, as, for the first time since its beginning, it takes on the full and undivided responsibility for both its artistic and business activities. The Williams School of Dancing looks forward with confidence to that generous public response which has always been vouchsafed to its efforts.

We sincerely hope that our friends and the general public will, as heretofore, assist us in our task of carrying on the further development of the school, a task that becomes increasingly difficult in the face of those conditions that have been and undoubtedly will continue to be brought about by the war.
KATHERINE DAWN WILLIAMS
FRANK G. WILLIAMS

To preserve to the world that heritage of culture which the ballet and its allied arts represent is a cause to which the instructors of the Williams School of Dancing are devoting the best that is in them. In the future that lies before us, they hope that, as in the past, the organization will live by virtue of its own merits, and through the kindness and unselfish interest of its friends.

WARTIME HOSPITAL REGULATIONS

A folder which is distributed to those entering the Warren General Hospital for their advice and guidance, contains necessary wartime regulations which should prove informative and interesting not only to patients but their relatives and friends who may contemplate visits to the institution. Times-Mirror readers will co-operate with the institution if they will read and abide by the following instructions:

WE ARE RESOLVED to maintain the care of our patients at the highest level of service despite the demands of war. We, therefore, ask that you accept the following necessary wartime regulations with patience and understanding:

1. Request your visitors to REDUCE THE NUMBER OF VISITS. We are now caring for a larger number of patients and the resulting increase in visitors interferes with service.
2. MAKE VISITS AS BRIEF AS POSSIBLE. When you do receive a visit, please see to it that the visit is kept as brief as possible. Long visits exhaust the patient's vitality and impede recovery.

3. DURING VISITS please do not discuss the war, illnesses, or anything which will cause you excitement.

4. DO NOT PERMIT ANYONE WITH A COLD to visit you. Doctors have requested that this rule be strictly enforced.

5. Ask visitors to SPEAK QUIETLY, WALK SOFTLY, NOT TO RAMBLE ABOUT THE ROOMS, WARDS, OR CORRIDORS. Ordinary sounds are often annoying to the person who is ill.

6. TELEPHONE CALLS. Please tell your friends to send letters or cards rather than repeatedly telephoning the hospital. Our telephone lines must be kept clear for emergencies. One telephone call can very well do for a half dozen, if news of your progress is relayed to family and friends.

7. GIFTS TO PATIENTS. Tell your friends not to send gifts which require time and attention of our employees. Nurses and other personnel are needed for more important duties.
8. DO YOUR PART TO HELP—be a good patient—the kind of patient who cooperates. Adopt the attitude that your physician and those who carry out his instructions are seeking to speed your recovery. Don't allow yourself to become disturbed over little annoyances.

Please signal only when really necessary. We are short-handed and emergency calls must be answered first. And please be patient with volunteer nurses' aids—remember that these volunteers are devoting their services free of charge during this war emergency. Then, too, if the food isn't all that you would like, please accept this graciously, for hospitals also are faced with rationing and shortages.

Expect only the essentials in nursing service—your nurse no longer has the time to be a beautician, secretary, or companion. Finally, when convalescing, help yourself as much as possible. In that way you can help US to help YOU.

STEPAN MUST HANG

Nobody ever can question that Max Stephan, Detroit restaurateur, was given the benefit of every legal recourse after he was convicted of treason for sheltering an escaped Nazi flyer.

The entire judicial hierarchy has looked over the case. It has been put up to the Supreme Court three times. Now Stephan must hang. He was entitled to utilize all the machinery of law; that is a basic difference between the country he betrayed and the one for which he sold his soul. Being guilty beyond all doubt, he deserves no pity.

For the past few days young men have been observed swimming and bathing in the Allegheny river between the Hickory street and lower Pennsylvania Railroad bridges. This is a practice that has been frowned upon by health officials for many years because of the contamination that exists in that particular section of the stream. It is possible that those engaging in the sport do not realize they are in danger of suffering infection from the water that could cause serious ailments. For the information of the young men who may not know it, the best place to swim in the Allegheny river at this point is above the Glade bridge.

"Follow the example of the armed forces—get a chest X-ray" is the slogan for the 1943 Early Diagnosis Campaign of the Warren County Tuberculosis Society, being waged this month.

Cooperate with the VFW committee by sending in names of women in the service along with information regarding men who have died in the service since Pearl Harbor.

How times flies! Only a few more months until it'll be time to start wishing it was summer again.

Victory gardens hereabouts could stand a little more rain.

Chew On This a While, Adolf!

Washington In Wartime

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—There are two schools of thought in Washington. One holds that James F. Byrnes, head of the Office of War Mobilization, is the "Assistant President" with greater powers than ever were accorded before to an appointive official.

The second contends that Harry Hopkins is the real "Second President"—that behind the scenes the same old "New Deal" is being perpetuated; and that the recently established OWM already is being circumvented on some orders issuing from the White House.

This group argues that Hopkins is closer to the President than any other individual; that he is the mentor of that group of "administrative assistants"—the men with a passion for anonymity; and that he has his own "little cabinet" made up of Ben Cohen, Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter and Samuel I. Rosenthal.

IN NAMING these men, the second school of thought has some argument about perpetuation of the New Deal that reached its zenith during the second administration, because most of them were as influential then as they possibly could be today.

The Byrnes school doesn't ignore these contentions, but says simply that the "old New Deal" that outgrowth of the depression Brain Trusts—is dead. They ask you to point to one piece of New Deal "social legislation" that has been passed since Pearl Harbor and ask you to think of any that is likely to get by the present Congress.

They single out such legislation as the modified Ruml Plan and the anti-labor legislation which were allowed at least to pass both Houses without serious protests from the White House.

THEY point to the endless line of New Deal stalwarts that has been wending away from the Washington scene. Those who have remained, they say, have dropped so far down the scale of influence and authority that they are no longer of great importance.

Men like Harold Ickes, Fred M. Vinson, Chester Davis and Byrnes still are up there, but they never ran consistently with the New Deal pack. Ickes has followed the President faithfully, but he was never third in line. Neither was Byrnes.

An even stronger argument of the Byrnes believers is that in these days of stress and strain, with a House of Representatives trembling on the brink of revolt, and an all-important national election just over the hill, there is hardly any likelihood that Roosevelt would assign a second-rate role to the greatest practical politician he has in the Democratic camp. Byrnes is that, and not even the Republicans would say otherwise.

Hollywood Gossip

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—I sat across from a one-man song factory and learned first-hand how the machinery operates. I learned also that this particular factory—its name is Irving Berlin—expects to keep on functioning, after 35 years and 800 published tunes, as long as its physical health endures.

Some business men get tired of their jobs, writers have been known to "dry up," artists often feel that they can never paint another picture, and song writers—

Irving wanted to talk about "This Is the Army," despite my objection that after two months of preparation, 31 weeks on the stage, and four months in Hollywood with the show he ought to be tired of it. "Not tired of it—just tired," he said.

"And song writers?" I persisted, and he yielded.

"WELL, I think my song-writing career can be divided into three stages," he said. "At first I was pretty cocky, thought everything I did was fine. At that stage I turned out possibly 25 per cent of good stuff. Next came the frightened stage: I had had some success, and was afraid. So I didn't accomplish too much. Now is the third stage—the security of experience. I know enough about my trade to be sure that when I have to write a score, I can do it. As long as my health continues reasonably good, I can keep on."

T-H-O-U-G-H-T-S

And he said unto him, Oh, my Lord, wherewith shall I save Israel? Behold, my family is poor in Manasseh, and I am the least in my father's house.—Judges 6:15.

Content with poverty, my soul I arm;
And virtue, though in rags, will keep me warm.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

IN 1923

Oakview Park has installed a bath house where bathers in the Conewango may don their one-piece bathing suit to a dip in the waters of the creek. Last night scores enjoyed the fun.

The DKL Ice Cream company is constructing a large distributing station at Kane and when it is completed will operate it to cover that section with trucks distributing the good things made by the Warren company.

Watermelons and canteloupes are now coming into the market in large quantities. Whole trainloads of melons are passing over the Erie railroad and the luscious products of the vines are finding ready sale.

The Y. M. C. A. Tennis courts on Oak street are open and are being largely used by women. It has been decided by the Board of Directors that women may enjoy the sport for a nominal fee.

Sheffield is going to stay at home on July 4 and posters have been hung far and wide advertising the monster Fourth of July celebration arranged there. There will be a parade with over 50 floats, plenty of bands and there will be ball games, races and other entertainment and at night a mammoth fireworks display will be given.

Farmer Walter Ward and men of the Rouse farm are now engaged in haying. The crop this year is a heavy one and is said to be one of the finest ever cut at the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Schuler attended a dinner of motorists in the ball room of the Hotel Jamestown last evening. A discussion of the taxation to which motorists are subjected brought out many view points and some action may result.

Spark's managed Downie Brothers Circus will show in Warren on Tuesday July 11. Charles Sparks, who owns and manages the show is well known locally and for many years transacted his banking business with the Warren National Bank.

The annual summer contest and rally of Warren county Boy Scouts will be held Saturday in Crescent Park. There promises to be many in attendance and the contests will be spirited.

Tomorrow is the date of the annual outing of the Presbyterian church and Sunday School. There will be a large attendance and a program of sports and entertainment has been arranged. Among them will be a championship contest in Barnyard Golf.

Letters FROM A SERVICEMAN

Dear Harriet

The circus was in town Saturday. You can bet, your George was there as big as life-eating peanuts - drinking pink lemonade and watching them water elephants.

Watering elephants seems as endless as my job fixing electric appliances these busy war days. You'd be surprised to know how "Fix it Conscience" the American housewife has become.

Knele Sam's ban on new electrical appliances for the duration has really hit home in a big way - and I'm flattered to think I can be so useful to the "Keepers of the Home Front."

Love
"George"

P.S. Waste in war is a crime - Don't waste electricity just because it's not rationed!

Your washer has a big job to do

Keep it working by having it inspected periodically. Consult our office for names of electric appliance repairmen and information that will help you in choosing the right ones for your needs. Make this free information service your electric appliance repair guide.

Sugar For Canning Now Gets Notice

The registration program for allotment of canning sugar got under way at the court house this morning as scheduled and seemed to be proceeding smoothly.

Officials of the local rationing board stated today they have two suggestions to make to applicants which may simplify the registration program and save time for all concerned.

The first is that the application program be extended throughout the month of July; the second, that stamps 15-16 be used to purchase canning sugar at the grocery store at the rate of five pounds per stamp and that applications be made at the court house only after these have been detached.

GASOLINE NO WORRY

Warren folks who are tearing their hair, losing poundage and otherwise getting down low over the ban on pleasure diving might follow the advice of four girls from Struthers-Wells plant. They found a way to overcome the ban and still get to the lake, enjoy a dip and have a general good time. They mounted their bicycles and hied away and pedaled 65 miles before the trip ended. They were Mary Andersen, Marty McFarland, Dot Ward and Jean Petersen. They report a grand time and a wonderful swim.

WORK IS STARTED

Setting of cluster piles to aid in the work of repairing the pier on the Hickory street bridge is under way and good progress is being made. As soon as this preliminary work is completed the work of driving sheet piling for a coffer dam will be undertaken and then the work of actually repairing the pier will be started. This promises to be a comparatively short job once the water is removed from about the pier. This morning the firemen on the boiler on the work float had steam up and one of the crew was enjoying a bit of fishing in the Allegheny.

NEW ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The price division of the district Office of Price Administration, Erie, has formed a food advisory committee for the Erie district comprising representatives from the local retail trade, the local wholesale trade, local cooperative chain, the corporate chain and the food manufacturers, to advise and consult with them concerning problems and practices of the food industry. The committee expects knowledge of experienced business men will be available and very helpful to OPA officials in determining price policies.

RAINS SAVED FORESTS

The local office of the Department of Forests and Waters advises that the rains of the past spring resulted in one of the best spring fire seasons on record for the Complanter district. The district includes Warren, Erie, Crawford, Forest and the northern half of Venango counties. Fire wardens combatted 42 fires which burned over 177 acres. The only other season comparable was 1936, when 41 fires took place, burning over 341 acres. The season began early with a fire in Forest county on March 17, burning over 30 acres. The total number of fires in March was 8, in April 20, and in May 15. Four of the six fire tower reporters were women.

Workers In Mission Field Coming Home

Eric Selander, 608 Prospect street, has just had a telegram from his son, Rev. John Selander, telling of his safe arrival in this country from India and of a prospective visit to Warren.

Rev. Selander and his wife, Hilda, left their mission field in Sadiya, Assam, India, on April 18 and landed in Los Angeles, Calif., last Friday. They expect to be in Warren in about ten days for a visit with family and friends.

The Selanders, representing the Northern Baptist Convention, have spent 21 years in India, this being their first furlough home during their last term of seven years. Their daughter, Miss Laura, has been in this country for the past four years and was graduated June 14 from Wheaton College.

REAL ESTATE PRICE RISE
Uncle Sam paid France about $15,000,000 for nearly 1,000,000 square miles of land when he acquired the Louisiana territory. The Virgin Islands cost him $25,000,000, and the area of the 50 islands in the group totals only 133 square miles.

S. A. Here To Get New Head Wednesday

Lt. Elizabeth Sako, commanding officer of the Warren Salvation Army Corps for the past two months, was farewelled in a public service held in the citadel Sunday evening. She will leave on Wednesday to assist in the Pittsburgh Temple Corps in Pittsburg.

Captain and Mrs. Arthur Brandenburg, formerly in charge of Homestead, will arrive the same day to take charge of local activities and will be publicly welcomed in a citadel service next Sunday evening.

They have just completed a very successful stay in Homestead and it is felt that the work in Warren will be carried on here in the same way and with the same fine results.

BIRTHS

SOCIETY OF CHRISTIAN SERVICE

The Woman's Society of Christian Service, both the afternoon and evening group and the Circle members, met for an out-of-doors meeting on the shaded lawn of the home of Mrs. H. H. Husted Friday afternoon.

The opening songs were under the leadership of Mrs. Dwight Jack. The devotional selection was given by Rev. Mr. Jack with the prayer by Rev. T. H. Johnson of Erie.

Mrs. H. H. Husted, the president, led the business session, reports were given including the report by Miss Ruby Babcock that $100 was cleared at the rummage sale. It was also reported that $100 was given to the Ruth Smith Children's Home at Sheffield. This fund was all contributed as "love of the cause" gifts and not taken from the general fund. Mrs. Crandall was in charge of this fund. It was announced that the next meeting would be the annual twelve dinner meeting August 6th at the home of Alice Streeter. Weather permitting this will be an out of door meeting. Mrs. Nora Russell gave a review of a current article referring to the good will created in China and other missionary lands by the helpful service of the missionaries in war times.

The speaker of the day was Mrs. T. H. Johnson, of Erie, formerly of Youngsville. Her topic was "Tools." She stressed the tools, including the Bible, which the Christian may use in doing God's work.

A social hour followed the meeting when light refreshments of cold fruit drink and delicious home-made cookies were served by members of the Missionary Circles of the church.

He demonstrated and especially urged dusting methods of controlling bean beetles and other garden pests.

Provide Ventilation—Plenty of ventilation under buildings will help to protect floors and other wooden parts near the ground from decay fungi, say foresters and agricultural engineers of the Pennsylvania State College. Ventilators in foundation walls usually are kept closed in winter for fuel economy, but should be open in warm weather.

Produce More Honey—Production of extra honey should be encouraged at this time because it results in larger yields of honey than where colonies are run for comb honey. Extension apiculturists of the Pennsylvania State College say that we need all the honey we can get from our colonies this year.

Save Cockerels—Poultrymen who expect to produce hatching eggs next year should select their breeder cockerels now, reminded poultry specialists of the Pennsylvania State College. Vigorous, fast-feathering, heavy-fleshed cockerels should be saved for breeders. A more careful selection can be made later.

Plant Root Crops—This is the last call for planting beets and carrots to produce high-quality, deeply colored roots for winter storage, remind Penn State vegetable specialists. Plant rutabagas early in July, yellow turnips the middle of July, and white turnips late in July.

Control Diseases—To prevent brown rot and scab on peaches, cherries, and plums, spray with a wettable sulphur according to the manufacturer's directions or with self-bolled lime sulphur, say Penn State plant pathologists.

Police Have Many Calls Over Sunday

Although the mercury almost ran out the top of the thermometer over the weekend, Warren guardians of the peace and quiet of the village functioned 100 per cent. Everything from weeds to girls, juke boxes to burglar alarms kept the boys moving and they toured from one end of the city to the other on errands of various sorts.

An effort was made to placate an irate East Side merchant who refuses to cut weeds along a part of his lot. As a placator the cop failed and Chief Haehn will take up where the copper left off.

Two gals were hied from the city as undesirables. Reports were that the gals had a swarm of local youths around them like bees after honey and the hard hearted cops shooed the gals on their way and they left the village pronto while the boys sorrowfully watched them depart.

The burglar alarm on the warehouse of the Bell Telephone Company let go and rang until the police shut it off. No burglars. And then a noisy juke box was toned down in a diner after residents of the city tired of listening to "Begin to Beguine" and wanted it stopped, not to begin again.

Dogs sang loudly on the East Side and finally a silencer had to be placed on them.

And the silence of the Sunday, broken only by a wail of essential drivers as they whined by in their limousines, was shattered by the crash of glass and the jangle of iron. A big truck from Olean with a tank upon it drove under one of the street lights opposite the Angove Market and down came the light. The globe was smashed and the metal holder broken. The truck driver satisfied the police he had insurance and swept up the glass and went merrily on his way.

Yep, it was hot but not a copper fainted.

Chapter 18

WALKING back to Terrence

House Ann knew that every day which passed was another stone in the wall Mr. Baxton and Jerry were building between her and her inheritance. She was like an army on the defensive. She wasn't making any progress.

"Dr. Renfrow wants to see you," Sarah told her when she entered the lobby. "He asked that you look him up." The words seemed to burn her tongue.

Ann thanked her and picked up the house phone. She located him downstairs where the guests took health baths.

Glancing at her watch she realized it was the women's hour and so she went quickly down the steps to the basement Grand Gussie had converted to a semibath of a bath house such as you might find in Hot Springs.

There was the same long corridor with individual bathing pools in small cubicles off it. There was the same hot, moist smell of steam, the same echo of voices.

Half way along the corridor Ann saw Bert and an attendant leaning over a sheet draped figure. Bert glanced up and motioned for Ann to wait until he could join her.

"Mrs. Fay had a heart flutter," Bert explained indifferently as he guided Ann back up the stairs. "She's always having something."

"Is she all right?"

"She'll live."

"You wanted to see me?"

"Yes, I'm interested in that affair last night."

SHE couldn't help retorting, "If you'd volunteered to do it, maybe we wouldn't have been caught."

"But if we had, there'd be hell to pay," He smiled down at her. "I'm going to make a country call. Want to come with me? We might think what to do next."

As they drove along the wide, smooth highway Ann told him all the details of the incident. "It all looks hopeless," she finished.

"Jerry denies having found the will yet I saw him find it. If he's destroyed it, Terrence House will go to him. I may as well give up."

"There's still one chance in a hundred that he'll produce it in house racing it's the long odds that pay the big profit if they pay at all."

"Then you're placing your money on the chance he might show the will?"

"Yes."

"I'm not that much of a gambler."

"You'd better think what you would do if he suddenly decided to let you have the place. Or have you made your plans already?"

"I . . . " She didn't know what to tell him. She hid behind the words he expected her to say. "I guess I'd be happy just to have it, Bert."

"Happy? That house managed efficiently could be a gold mine."

She said defensively, "My grandmother did pretty well with it."

"She didn't scratch the surface. She didn't know enough. What are ten guests when he could have thirty?"

"You believe we could have that many?"

"Certainly. We've got something in that spring. A freak of nature. Not another one in the state."

Not another one in the world, Ann thought swiftly.

"Your grandmother did all right with it," he conceded.

"Enough to get a hospital dedicated to her memory?"

"Tomorrow? Is that ceremony tomorrow, Bert?"

"THAT'S what I understand. Mrs. Morgan's going around in circles getting it ready. There's a surprise in it, too."

"A surprise? For the audience?"

"Yes. For you, too. Something I imagine you'll like."

"Why don't you tell me. It might prepare me for the worst."

"There's no 'worst' about it. It's a personal touch that Mrs. Terrence would have liked."

"Whatever it is she deserves it. Bert. She made enough out of Terrence House to help so many people."

"You could do a whole of a lot more." He slowed the car, covered her hand with one of his. "That is, you could if we could work together."

Together? Bert in Terrence House with her? Bert bringing more and more guests like Mrs. Fay and Mr. Newton? Bert assuming command of the establishment with her as Mrs. Bert Renfrow. It made a nice picture for Bert!

If and when she mustered the courage to tell him the truth about the spring she could imagine his reaction.

"Well?" he said now, his tone urgent.

"I . . . I can't plan yet, Bert."

"As soon as Lane decides to produce that will and your inheritance is settled, you can plan to marry me. That's the way it has to be, Ann."

"You forget your odds are a hundred to one he won't produce the will."

He smiled at that. A wry, gambler's smile. "I told you I'd take the long chance if the purse is worth it."

"Is it worth it in this case?" she asked.

"WELL worth it," he answered candidly. "We'll make Terrence House the most famous resort in this part of the country. You'll manage the staff and I'll manage the patients. We'll be a great team."

"You're not talking much about love, Bert. Somehow I thought I'd wait for love."

"Love? The shake of his head was cynical. "It's like Diogenes looking for a bigger man. Don't spend your life on ideals. Ann. Love is where you choose to find it."

Where you choose to find it? Where your head chooses to find it? Bert meant. Your head and your purse.

But he was wrong. Sometimes your heart chose for you and there was nothing under the shining sun you could do about it. Nothing but lie awake in the small hours of the night and long for the touch of strong hands on your shoulder, quick, eager lips on your mouth.

Nothing but try to wrap yourself against the cold of knowing that there on the terrace had been the beginning of something bigger than yourself, a bigger man. Don't. Something that a few short sentences had killed for all time. . . . "You'll have to blame me for this . . . I detained Mr. Lane . . . a kissing game . . . I hate a cheat."

Love? It wasn't a matter of convenience. It was a burning fever from which some never recovered.

CAMP MEETINGS CANCELED

Due to the gasoline situation the Free Methodist Camp meetings which are usually held at several places in this end of the state have been cancelled for this year. The meetings always draw a large number with their bedding, etc., and it is impossible to hold them if driving is not permitted and the ruling of the OPA has been against them.

ALBINO DEER

A pair of albino deer is attracting much attention in the Cherry Grove section. The animals are to be seen almost every evening along the highway between Weldbank and Cherry Grove. They are almost pure white and one is a buck with spikes and the other is a female. The deer problem is one that is causing the farmers in the Cherry Grove section much trouble as the animals invade gardens and eat the tops off the corn and cut off the pea and bean sprouts close to the ground.

TO ESTABLISH BUREAU

As a result of a survey of facilities in Erie county, plans are being developed to establish a special agent for the rehabilitation and placement of cured tuberculosis patients of seven counties of northwestern Pennsylvania. The man will serve on the staff of the Bureau of Rehabilitation located in the Ariel Building in Erie. Under the plan to be set up in this area, the special agent will be supported by funds contributed to the County Tuberculosis Associations of the seven counties in this area and from funds provided by the government.

Six Local Youths Who Have Enrolled In Aviation Cadets To Receive Buttons This Week

An interesting ceremony is scheduled to take place next Saturday when members of the Aviation Cadet Examining Board, Erie, will be in Warren for the purpose of presenting buttons to six local seventeen-year-old boys who have enrolled in Air Forces "Enlisted Reserves," known as the Aviation Cadets. It is expected that complete arrangements for the event will be worked out at a meeting of the committee this evening which will be held at the Elk club, that organization being the sponsor of the activity in Warren.

The three men on rolls from Warren and three from Clarendon are still seventeen years of age and for that reason are qualified to wear the buttons that will be given them next Saturday.

The presentation will be made by Captain Gerardo G. Garcia, Air Corps, in a public ceremony. He will be accompanied by most of the members of the Erie examining board.

The youths who will receive the buttons are Jack Kissel Kammer, 101½ Elm street, Ralph Clinton McCloskey, 320 Park street and John Martin Retzer, 112 Central avenue, Warren, and James Richard Baerhurst, Karl Kennan Mahaffey and Donald Edward Siffin, all of Clarendon.

Complete details for the ceremony will be printed later in the week, but it is the plans of the committee to have the exercises out-doors some time Saturday evening, with a band concert as part of the program. H. D. Baker, chairman of the aviation committee of the Warren Lodge of Elks, is in charge.

Ohio Motorist Left Stranded

Jamestown, N. Y., June 28—Motorists living beyond the boundaries of the pleasure driving ban who go joy-riding in this area may be in for a bad time. It was indicated today by announcement of Thomas J. Reese, OPA director of the Buffalo district, that a campaign to curb them is on.

At least one Ohio driver has already become stranded in Jamestown. Appearing Thursday morning to the local price and rationing board for help in getting back home, he was stymied when it was found that no member of the board was available to act on his case.

Chairman J. Harold Swanson was in Buffalo conferring with OPA officials there. Walter H. Edson was out of town on business, and Arnold E. Benson is on vacation. No one at the board's offices could say what action will be taken.

The Ohio driver professed ignorance of the fact that A-6 coupons which are valid in his state until July 22 are no good here. Extension of the No. 5 coupons here until July 22 has placed this state one month behind Ohio.

BEAR LAKE

Bear Lake, June 25—Miss Mabel Truesdell, of Ashville, was a recent weekend guest at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Charles St. John.

Mr. Harold Crandall, and Mr. Phone Cornish, have returned to their homes in Bear Lake, after being for some time in the war, they each were given an honorable discharge and I imagine very glad to be home once again.

Mrs. Cleo Carr has returned to her home here for her vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Herselink of Panama were evening callers of their uncle F. Woodin, one evening recently.

Robert Coon and family, and Charles Coon have moved down to or near Garland. They have been living in Manwaring's hall for the past year.

Mr. Fred Sands, who recently died in Chandlers Valley formerly had lived in Bear Lake, and had many friends here who were sorry to hear of his death. The family have the sympathy of their many friends.

I think that Mr. Leon Cable, who has been ill with typhoid fever for some weeks is considered as gaining slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wheeler have moved into their new home recently purchased of Mrs. Elma Walker, who is staying with them for an indefinite time.

Mrs. Phoebe Phillips, who has been at Chautauqua, getting her cottages ready for the summer has returned to her home here.

I understand that Mrs. Bruce Boardman is not quite so well at this time.

The ladies have taken over the aircraft industry. Figures show that the feminine contingent ranks 70 to 80 per cent among new workers hired by many aircraft companies.
